DRAFT

PEOPLE STRATEGY

2017 - 2020

Merseyside
FIRE & RESCUE SERVICE

SAFER, STRONGER COMMUNITIES; SAFE EFFECTIVE FIREFIGHTERS

FOREWORD BY
CHIEF FIRE OFFICER PHIL GARRIGAN

This Strategy reinforces our commitment to the public by delivering the best possible services to our community whilst harnessing the considerable talents of our staff.

We know our people are instrumental in achieving our ambitions in an ever changing environment. We recognise the significant contribution our people make in achieving our mission, aims and objectives through commitment to our organisational and personal values.

This strategy defines what we need from our people as well as what we, the Service need to do to enable them to make a real tangible difference in their community.

To do this it is vitally important that our people are able to reach their potential, give their best at work and are listened to and valued for their contribution.

With this in mind the development of the strategy and its strategic objectives have been achieved through extensive engagement with our workforce in line with our 'Think People' approach. Its intent compels each and every one of us to play our part in making Merseyside Fire and Rescue Service a great and successful place to work.

During the course of its implementation we will continue to seek the views of our staff and adapt to some of the approaches to reflect the feedback we hear – we know it will evolve.

It is vitally important that we listen to and hear the views of our staff, it is equally important that we recognise and act on the trust that the public places on each and every one of us.

Professional, competent, courteous and community focused people are the centre of our strategy.

I genuinely believe that this strategy will be a step off point for the Service and as such I would like to offer my personal thanks to everyone who has contributed to its development and I look forward to seeing the strategy and implementation plan come to life in the forthcoming months

The future is exciting

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This People Strategy has been developed in response to the national People Strategy which sets out the direction of travel for the UK Fire & Rescue Service.

It will be an evolving strategy which takes account of a number of key documents including Sir Ken Knights 'Facing the Future' Report and Adrian Thomas's Independent Review of Conditions for Service for Fire and Rescue Staff in England. Above all it considers how we will deliver our Integrated Risk Management Plan through our people.

It explores the main drivers for change and the impact that these changes have on our people. It also establishes how we continue to deliver our mission, aims and values.

It focuses particularly on:

OUR AIM: EXCELLENT PEOPLE

Developing and valuing our employees, respecting diversity, promoting opportunity and equality for all

OUR CORE VALUE

Our people are the best they can be.

It builds upon existing practice which has added value as well as providing a framework for the future.

The strategy adopts the six components of the national People Strategy which are:

- ❖ Strengthen leadership and Line Management to support organisational change and improved community outcomes.
- ❖ Developing cultural values and behaviours which make the Fire and Rescue Service a great place to work for all our people
- ❖ Provide excellent training and education to ensure continuous improvement of service to the public
- ❖ Continue to support the health and wellbeing of all of our people
- ❖ Improve our ability to provide good service by diversifying our workforce and creating a fair and equal place to work
- ❖ Ways of working that respond to service needs

The strategy sets out our strategic intent with an implementation plan to inform delivery. The strategy will be flexible in order for us to continue to respond to challenges facing our community. It highlights the importance of people and leadership at all levels.

OUR PRINCIPLES

We will adopt the following principles:

- ❖ Our core and personal values will underpin everything we do as well as inform the way we work together.
- ❖ We will enhance leadership at all levels which in turn will impact positively on the organisation, team and individual creating a high performance culture to serve our community
- ❖ We will continue to make a positive difference to our community whether in an operational context or making communities stronger through involvement, engagement and presence.
- ❖ We will be an employer of choice that attracts and retains the best people.
- ❖ We will provide training and education for all - providing opportunities for teams to grow and learn and achieve high quality outcomes
- ❖ We will be open, honest and transparent in how we communicate in order to maximise the engagement and contribution of our people so that they feel valued and recognised.
- ❖ We will involve our people in decision making ensuring staff are properly engaged and consulted on with regards to the future direction of the organisation.
- ❖ We will challenge negative and undermining behaviours
- ❖ We will create a strong focus on organisational learning that both seeks to embed the learning of lessons and use that learning for service improvement
- ❖ We will develop a one team culture - working together to achieve our aims encouraging an outcome focused mind-set.
- ❖ We will ensure fairness, consistency and honesty in the way we treat each other.
- ❖ We will champion diversity and inclusivity within our communities and our workforce.
- ❖ We will create a healthy and safe environment where staff can be themselves - a place where stigma and prejudice have no place.

INTRODUCTION

There is significant change ahead of us as a Fire and Rescue Service. This in turn brings opportunities as well as challenges. What we do have is a strong base to work from in terms of our history, our brand, the difference we make to the people of Merseyside and most of all the talents our people bring. We may not have all the answers but by involving people we will arrive at more considered solutions.

- ❖ We know that we face further financial challenges and will need to continue to explore how we can find as many savings as possible which limit the impact on people - particularly our front line staff. We also face a changing landscape in terms of our potential governance arrangements as well as new inspection arrangements and independent standards.
- ❖ We recognise that the People Strategy will grow and evolve to support the future vision of the wider Fire Service agenda as well as the needs of the City Region. It is the start of a journey with our starting point being to ensure excellence in the delivery of our service as is and to enhance the capability of our people to shape and deliver it.

Leadership at all levels has never been more important - leadership has significant impact on our community, the service we deliver and the teams and individuals within it. Our focus groups have shared with us what great leadership both looks and feels like and it is important that we reflect this in the qualities we expect from our leaders. We want our leaders to lead by example, have a strong team focus and presence with a genuine interest in people. This involves listening, being open and honest, consistent, supportive and encouraging whilst not walking past poor behaviour and attitude.

- ❖ We need to set high standards that others aspire to, sometimes that means not taking the easy option. As Lieutenant General David Lindsay once said “The standard you walk past is the standard you (accept) set”.

Every time we accept undermining or poor inappropriate behaviour we are endorsing it – our people expect more. Our people want us to be interested and forward facing to look forward not back – this is exactly the approach we will adopt.

The People Strategy is not solely about personal leadership but it is also about strong organisational leadership where we seek to do the right thing, are accountable for our actions and take responsibility. We cannot afford to dwell on what we can no longer do but on what we can continue to do and do very well.

- ❖ We aim to support and encourage high performing teams so that we continue to deliver the best possible outcomes for our communities. This means building a climate of trust, clarity in terms of how job roles contribute to the vision and creating an environment where people feel they can influence the way we deliver our service.
- ❖ We need to continue to recognise and reward high performance. We appreciate that this will mean different things to different people therefore we will have a variety of ways to show appreciation and praise. Again, our staff have shared with us some ideas as to how this may take shape.

- ❖ We realise that people want to stretch and grow and don't always aspire to a leadership role. We are therefore keen to explore opportunities for staff to develop in their current roles and continue to make a significant contribution.

In the selection and development of our leaders we must ensure that leaders are free from unconscious bias and that they are open to considering a range of perspectives and views. The use of psychometric tools during selection processes may assist in this. We acknowledge the importance of promoting diversity in leadership positions and have leaders from operational and non-operational staff who equally contribute to achieve our aims and core values.

- ❖ We must identify the right people with the right values to take up key leadership roles and positively impact on those around them. We must also not be afraid to harness talent more quickly and consider programmes such as accelerated development to turn potential into performance.
- ❖ We recognise that leadership works across a range of boundaries. We will develop leaders who know and understand their communities and who make a significant difference.

Two way communication is crucial. Our focus groups have given us feedback on what good engagement looks like. It is important that people feel they have a voice which contributes to shaping what we do.

- ❖ We want staff to feel they are part of the organisation, can actively contribute to it and have the opportunity to reflect upon and celebrate their successes.
- ❖ We see our people as integral in contributing their experiences, expertise and ideas. We will assist people with change so that they are involved in the planning, are clear about why we need to change and consider the options available.
- ❖ We recognise the value of staff forums as our existing ones have received positive feedback and engagement. We will establish further staff forums and measure their impact and value.
- ❖ We realise that engagement can be formal as well as informal and aim to deliver both. We appreciate the opportunities technology presents in the communication of key messages and provide timely, consistent messages. We also know that face to face communication is king.
- ❖ We want teams to work together to provide the best possible outcomes for the public and harness the different talents people bring. With this in mind we will set up cross directorate working through project work to create stretch and broader organisational awareness. Different people bring different expertise and it is important to use that effectively to continually improve the way we do things.

Our core and personal values are integral to what we do and the service we offer. We will continue to see if our values are fit for purpose and reflect the needs of the service. What is important is that they must be seen as well as written so that there is no SAY- DO gap. We need to stand up and speak up for what is right and address things that are wrong.

- ❖ We continue to focus on the wellbeing of our people. We will build upon the support offered to assist staff with welfare and mental health issues. We will also place safety at the heart of everything we do. We need to ensure that our workplaces are conducive to work allowing people to give their best, whilst appreciating that work also needs to have a social aspect.
- ❖ We will continue to strive to ensure that we are inclusive in all we do and we will build a representative workforce. We value diversity and recognise that different people bring different perspectives, ideas, knowledge and culture, and that this difference brings great strength. In order to improve the way we deliver services to our communities we want to increase the diversity of our workforce. Whilst we have made significant improvements in this area, we know that we can do more and continue to deliver positive action programmes to raise awareness of MFRS as an employer of choice.
- ❖ We value the contribution that apprentices, volunteers and cadets bring in the creation of greater diversity within the workplace. We will continue to invest in these initiatives.

Finally we will stimulate a learning culture where we promote continuous learning and improvement whereby people take responsibility for their own learning and development which ultimately has a positive impact on organisational performance. We also need to encourage taking safe and measured risks so that we innovate, think broadly and continue to build a strong base to adapt to change.

Much of this will help achieve a highly engaged workforce who feel their contribution is valued and recognised.

The BIS report- Engage for Success (2009) defines engagement as “creating the conditions in which employees offer more of their capability and potential ”. In defining our principles and establishing clear areas of focus (Components parts) we are confident we have the blueprint for future engagement.

These plans will be will be focused on the delivery of our strategic objectives – delivered through the associated action/implementation plan
